Political Controversy Is Bread and Goose-Fat of Boche Life-No Butter at All.

By Earle C. Reeves.

BERLIN. July 6.—We don't understand parliamentary government. We never had it before?

So the German explains the muddle in which his country finds itself in the experiment of self-rule.

They're learning. They seem to be learning fast over here.
At home we think it takes a tremendous lot of mouth work and printed words to get anything done politically But Germany's working on a super-Massachusetts scale. In the Bay state an annual state eletion makes pointing a year-around affair. It seems to be a continuous side show here.

Ten or 12 parties are taking a constant hand in the game. Folliest controversy is the tread and goose fat of German life. There is no butter.

I traveled from thoughs on the eve of the Whitsmind holiday. The train was crowded, holiday fresystems standing packed in the contribure. School German, a dozen years old, is a weak thing against a splittering political discussion, but I earght the bigh spots.

Reads Riot Act.

Reads Riot Act.

The socialist government in Berlin one gathered, was everything that was guttural and unpronounceable. Ebert, it seemed, was worke, because helpies and bossed by the new experimenters. For my benefit, also, the man in the corner read the "riot act" on France, England and America.

He worked himself gradually into a passion, using his aims freely to help raise his temperature to a beding point. I found lafer many indications or this nations, trait, that of responding slow-by, laboriously, to any incentive to anger and working to a white heat over a period of hours or days. It keeps Germany's feet, upon the ground in these troubled times. The German population is anything but highly inflamthese troubled times. The German population is anything but highly inflammable.

A girl in the window corner whispered to her neighbor that I was English—which was as near as she could guess it. The rumblings of the infromptu political orater rose ligher, as he glared now and then through thicklenses at me. I was usuited, no doubt, but he had long since passed into such a stage of yocal eruption that I could lonses at me. I was usulted, no doubt, but he had long since passed into such a stage of vocal eruption that I could no longer even catch the high points or the simple ones.

We stopped at 4:30 in the afternoon, and a dinner was put on. The girl beckened and gave me the welcome tip to stand in line in the corridor. It was a friendly act, for Id had coffee and crackers for breakfast, and the station platform refreshment booths had yielded only more coffee, a cake of chocolate for 60 cents and two apples. "The war is over," she said.

Not for the simmering politician. She had been friendly to an "auslander," and he only grinted in response to her general good-night, as she loft the compartment at her station.

Berlin, generally, is more friendly to foreigners of the late enemy class, for most of the people one comes into contact with here know the money that comes with the visitor. Most have very efficient methods for helping him get rid of it. But here everybody has his particular brand of pointics. There's a wide variety to select from.

Burying the hews, or leaving it over to be printed tomogrow, the German hewspapers purvey opinions first, page que cultorials, long and intricately worded, signed broadside by men with big journalistic names; bitter attacks on the low intelligence of a rival writer, written in the style of the age of Horace Greeley.

OF HOPELESS CASE

Team Has Slept So Long
Under McCarthy It's Hardly Possible to Get Anywhere

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July '—When a ball club has trailed the field up to the time the pennant race is swinging into minecason, the case seems hopered, and that is just the condition of the Kansas City team. Alibis have been exhausted. The simple facts are that Kansas City is represented by a team that isn't of American association caliber and the finish of the race very likely will find the Blues in their present position unless President George Mushlebach is successful in making them very soon.

The hose of the Blue outfit made one important changes the past week when he depoaged Alex McCarthy and placed the managerial reins in the hands of Citto Knabs. formetly star second sacker of the Philadelphia National league tasm and later manager of the Ballimore featm of the Federal league and them coach of the Chicago Cubs. He hook charge of the did Thursday and after nine straight defeats it wos the first battle under his management, showing more life and fight than in rial he had and it got to a point where the faus believed veterans of the club were loafing on the Job. When this occurred there was but one thing to do and that was change management. McCartby was given a thorough trial. No club owner could have been more fair than Muchlebach was on this occasion. He bought and sold ball players to try to strengthen the team. He did everything in his power to give McCartby material to work with, but McCartby was unable to get the best out of the material.

Knabe Different Kind of Fan. Knabe is a scrapper, as was proved when he managed the Saltimore Federals. He was a great bail player with the Phinnes for years, always credited with possessing more than ordinary asseball brains. He has announced that with possessing more than ordinary baseball brains. He has announced that he will make several changes as soon as he can get men to take the places of the weak cogs in the machine. Just what These changes will be he does not care to state, but very likely he will retain such players as tood, Brock, Brief, McCarthy, Letter and Muler and season improvement was necessary. The Hues aren't completely lost. They are in the cellar and 10 games back of Indianapolus, the seventh place einb. That is a long ways back, but it is possible to elimb out of the dugout by late July if the proper improvement is shown. Knabe can not be expected to pilot the team up to the first division. The fanatics will have to be lenient with the new manager and are willing to be. They are beginning at this early date to look forward to 1921, knowing that only a miracle, such as the Braves staged back in 1914 in that record dash pennantward, can put the Blues in the first division at the finish in early October. But Kansas City fans are loyal and patient. If the club improves and institution at the finish in early October. But Kansas City fans are loyal and patient. If the club improves and plays good baseball the balance of the race the club owner will realize a profit on his investment, despite the position the team occupies at the finish.

Mike Kelley's St. Paul champions are making a runnway race of it at this time. Gradually the Saints are increazing their advantage over their rivals. They have a lead now of about 10 games—a very satisfactory lead as the race reached midseason. Seldom does a club have such an advantage in any pennant battle.

Chief competition now rests in the fight for second place between Minnespolis, Milwankee and Toledo. Each has occupied the place during the past two weeks. Just two and one-half games separate them. Hoger Bresnahan's Mud Hens hele it for a time without scripts only and baye here playing siden.

in view. The addition of Grover Low-dermilk to the pitching staff was a 10-strike Lowdermilk has been pitch-ing almost unbeatable ball ever since he entered the league, losing only one game recently. Unless there is a decided upset the two divisions will be occupied by the same clubs that occupy them now at the finish.

NEW YORK, July 6.—After a six months' study of conditions the National Americanism commission of the American Legion, of which Arthur Woods, former assistant secretary of of war; is chairman, has embodied its findings in a "Primer on Citizenship," which will be distributed to the 3,500 posts of the Legion. The object is to make every post of the Legion a center for the same propagation of practical doctrines of Americanism.

"Drives" are characterized as futile because they are apt to be misunderstood by the alien or the ignorant citizen and thus defeat their own purposes, Day-by-day co-operation between Legion men and women and those they wish to help to be better citizens is recommended as preferable. More impressive naturalization cerminies are urged. Instruction in the responsibilities of citizenship, patrictic principles and national loyalty are advocated for the schools. The Commission goes on record for increased saiaties for teachers.

The policeman on the beat comes in for a strong word of commendation. Mr. Woods points out that most of the foreign-born see in the policeman the whole majesty of American government.

In a foreword, Mr. Woods defines Americanism, "We do not need a war in order to have chance to perform its duties," he says, "Nor do we have to wait for special emergencies, it is a matter of everyday life. It calls on us to make the most of ourselves. There are many wavs it which the good American can do this,"

BRITISH RAILWAYS LOST $200,000,000 IN YEAR

LONDON, July 6. (By International News Service.)—The operation of British railways for the year ending March 21, resulted in a net loss of over two hundred million dollars, which will be met by a government subsidy.

The American chamber of commerce in London has figured this out, and it is stated that railways, trams and omnibuses are all being run at a loss and this at a time when industry is expanding and the volume of traffic greater than ever. panding and the volume of traffic greater than ever.

The ministry of transport is now considering the situation, and it is said that the project favored is to divide the country into traffic zones, with a joint committee for each zone. The number of railway companies will be reduced to eleven, thus putting out of existence over 100 companies. It is thus hoped to put the industry on an economic basis and thus attract new capital.

MADE BY SCOTT & BOWNE

LONDON, July 6. (By Inernational News Service.)—That cotton plantations should be enlarged so as to cops with the ever increasing demand and that the continued shortage of the product was a serious danger to the whole world, was the basis of a resolution passed by the International Cotton congress at its session at Zurch.

Signor Milius, of Italy, president of the congress, discussing the questions of plantations, cotton pressing in America and the influence of exchange rates on international relations. It was at the conclusion of his speech that the above resolution was passed.

The resolution further expressed the hope that the British government in particular would actively associate itself with the development of plantations and take steps to improve the present service of transport.
